

Make the transition smoother at Guam Community College

You've helped to secure your country's future.
Now it's time to secure your own.

Transitioning from active duty back into civilian life often presents many challenges. Make this transition smoother for yourself and your family by earning a National Career Readiness Certificate at Guam Community College.

Whether you are pursuing further education or entering directly into the workforce, the NCRC assessment proves to employers that you possess the knowledge and skills needed to perform the job - knowledge and skills you probably acquired during your time in service.

More and more employers are using the NCRC to hire the right person for the job. YOU can be that person. Take the NCRC assessment today at Guam Community College.
